

Check out these highlights from the film screening of "Darkside of the Full Moon" at the Boca Raton Regional Hospital Dawson Theater.

It was attended by about 50 women and a handful of men as well. It was well received by all who commented, and there was a lot of conversation. A significant 'talk back' was both eye opening and supportive of Jennifer Silliman, who produced the documentary, and her maternal mental health mission. The guests came from various perspectives, many of them service providers and OBGYN staff, while others were students and mothers from the community.

It was a positive Action Alliance collaboration between Boca Raton's Promise, Moms to Moms and Healthy Mothers - Healthy Babies.
